ROBOT BOMBS KILL 2752

8000 Injured, Churchill Says

LONDON GETS BAD BEATING; CHILDREN TO LEAVE CITY

Saving the Enemy—After blasting a Nazi submarine wide open in the Atlantic, the Canadian frigate Swansea moves in to the rescue . . . and here her crewmen pull aboard some of the Nazis who managed to escape from their doomed craft. Depth charges sank the U-boat, the Swansea's second sub victim.

Robot London Deaths 2752

By CHARLES A. SMITH

LONDON, July 6 (INS)—A frank admission that London has been hard hit as the main target of Nazi Germany's robot bombs, compelling some evacuation and possibly necessitating more, was made to the House of Commons by Prime Minister Churchill today.

Thus far, the Prime Minister said in the first official disclosure that Britain's capital itself has been the "south of England," previously referred to as recipient of Hitler's terror weapon, at least 2752 persons have been killed.

Counting the wounded, seriously and otherwise, casualties are upward of 10,000.

But while suggestions were made the House itself quit London for some safe sanctuary in the countryside and, while Churchill emphasized the grave aspects of the attack, he disclosed the all-over mortality rate was one person per bomb, for up to the time he spoke exactly 2754 robot bombs had been sent over against this city.

London was evacuating children, as in 1940. The city put into use its shelters held in reserve for emergencies. An unestimated number of American soldiers have been killed. Schools, hospitals and churches were among the buildings hit by the robots, which each carry 2200 pounds of explosives.

The assault continued today. Everything "within human power" is being done to combat the bombs, Churchill said, and with the observation that "we have never failed yet" he met suggestions that Commons go to the countryside with the words: "Here we began the war and here we will see it ended."

Lists Monthly Losses

A "very large proportion" of the bombs sky-rocketed by the Germans from their mobile and difficult to locate propulsion stations in Europe have been destroyed on their way to London, Churchill said, and for this he gave a large measure of tribute to the work of the United States Army Air Forces.

Deep shelters hitherto regarded as a reserve now will be brought into use, Churchill said, adding that Home Secretary Herbert Morrison ought to be congratulated "on having these up his sleeve."

The total of deaths, Churchill reported, would figure at the rate of more than 3600 monthly—not so heavy as those inflicted by the Luftwaffe at its prime four years ago.

Monthly casualties during the blitz included: September, 1940, 6976 deaths; October, 6311; November, 5003; December, 3992; January, 1941, 1648; February, 860; March, 4610; April, 6469; May, 5601; June, 406.

Churchill declared unessential workers in London had best leave the city, too.

"We are not discouraging people who have no essential work to do from leaving London," he said.

U. S. Using Robot Bombs, Nazis Say

(AXIS PROPAGANDA) LONDON, July 6 (INS)—The German radio asserted today that United States bombers have released robot bombs on Nazi targets.

In an attack on Cologne on May 28 and one on Hamburg on June 16, the broadcast said, the American planes released "some winged bombers" in the shape of small gliders.

Churchill Talk Highlights

LONDON, July 6 (INS)—Highlights of Prime Minister Churchill's speech on the flying bombs:

"Here we began the war and here we will see it ended."

"Everything within human power (is being done to combat them) and we have never failed yet."

"It would be a mistake to underrate the serious character of this form of attack."

"The House will be favorably surprised to learn that actually about one person was killed for one bomb." (There were 2752 fatalities for the 2754 bombs launched.)

"If it had not been for our bombing operations in France and Germany, the bombardment of London no doubt would have started perhaps six months earlier on a very much heavier scale."

"The untiring, relentless efforts of the British and American air forces are responsible for the delay and diminution of the present scale of attack."

"It is yet to be tested who has suffered and will suffer most in the process."

Russians Open Smash at Pinsk

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, July 6 (AP)—The Red army unleashed a great new thrust today in the direction of Pinsk and Brest Litovsk while vanguards of Gen. Cherniakhovsky's Third White Russian army were reported within 45 miles of Vilno.

Like the beginning of the White Russian campaign, the new drive was launched with terrific artillery barrages operating with mighty air support. It was too early, however, to tell whether it was a general offensive.

BALTIC PATHS OPEN

Cherniakhovsky's advance carried through Smorgonie, where his cavalry units were only 140 miles from the borders of East Prussia, front dispatches said.

Other Soviet troops mopping up the Minsk region proceeded with liquidation of the battered remnants of the German 12th and 27th Corps and the 39th Tank Corps.

Molodeczno was one of the mainstays of the German's 96-mile Vilka-Nesvizh line and a junction of the Minsk-Vilno and Polesk-Lida railroads.

The way now appeared open for a simultaneous advance by Cherniakhovsky's army and Gen. Bagration's First Baltic Army into Lithuania and Latvia.

There was no confirmation in Moscow of a German report that the vital communications center of Kovel had been evacuated by Nazi troops.

REPORT NAZI ATTACK

(The Moscow radio, in a broadcast recorded by the Soviet monitor in London, said the Germans were counter-attacking in the Baranowice area, 81 miles southwest of Minsk, using infantry, tanks and aircraft. "Particularly fierce fighting is going on," the broadcast said.

(Reuters quoted the Moscow radio as saying other German counterattacks were reported west of Molodeczno, but declaring "the Red Army, however, is sweeping the Germans away in its drive to the west.")

Great waves of dive bombers hunted out the German salients in the Pinsk marshes, blasting them from low levels and driving the Nazis along the few roads leading back toward the Gorin river and Pinsk.

Military observers in Moscow saw in this new activity through the difficult marshes a challenge to Hitler's whole central position and, if coupled with the southern White Russian offensive, believed it should carry straight to Brest Litovsk and Warsaw.

Gen. Ike Warns Fishermen Again

LONDON, July 6 (INS)—The headquarters of Gen. Eisenhower today broadcast another warning to European fishermen, extending until July 13 the admonition against cruising in waters from the French port of Bayonne near the Franco-Spanish frontier to the West Frisian Islands off the northern coast of Holland.

Yanks Drive Past La Haye

By WES GALLAGHER

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, July 6 (AP)—Two hard-fighting columns of the American First Army plunged southward beyond besieged La Haye du Puits today to the east and west, outflanking this western anchor of the enemy's Normandy line, while other troops battled inside the town itself after capturing the railway station nearly half a mile to the north.

Round Clock Air Drive Resumes

By GLADWIN HILL

LONDON, July 6 (AP)—Upward of 500 U. S. heavy bombers attacked northwest Germany and airfields and robot bomb sites in France today after a night in which the RAF struck in great strength at the Pas-de-Calais area and the rail center of Dijon, south-east of Paris.

Germany possibly was under coordinated attack from Italy and England, for radio Berlin asserted that other American bombers and fighters were approaching southern Germany and Austria.

Fighters and fighter-bombers flying with the Fortresses and Liberators in the widespread daylight assaults dive-bombed and strafed unspecified targets.

Better weather placed the aerial offensive on a round-the-clock basis again.

Squadrons of Mosquitos bombed a synthetic oil plant in the Ruhr near Gelsenkirchen, leaving it wreathed in smoke two miles high. Other industrial targets were hit in western Germany and four Nazi ships, creeping down the coast toward the Frisian Islands, felt the crash of RAF Wellington bombs.

RAF Lancasters without loss hurled a "great weight" of bombs at the ancient city of Dijon, 100 miles west of the Swiss border.

Red Ace Passes 53-Plane Mark

MOSCOW (AP)—Maj. Alexander Pokryshkin, with several more than 53 German planes destroyed in air combat, remains the leader in ace of the Red air force, but is being crowded by two other fighter pilots who have reached totals of 53 each, it was announced.

Pokryshkin's latest score has not been announced but is said to have increased considerably, and he still is at the front.

Goering, in Italy,

BERN, July 6 (AP)—The Bern newspaper, Der Bund said today in a dispatch from Chiasso, Italian frontier, that Reichsmarshal Goering had arrived in North Italy.

RUSSIA—The Red army's thundering advance continues, smashing today towards the Warsaw-Riga railroad (behind notched line) which forms the major supply route for German armies in the Baltic States. Ringed cities are principal Soviet objectives.

German Terms 'Retire' Hitler?

LONDON, July 6 (INS)—Lisbon reports, quoted today by Reuters, said there is reason to believe Nazi peace proposals purportedly conveyed through Portuguese circles went so far as to contemplate "retirement" of Hitler.

These dispatches said the peace feelers reportedly also included proposals for:

- 1—Immediate cessation of robot bomb raids;
- 2—Progressive retirement to the 1939 frontiers;
- 3—Re-establishment of pre-war Poland, and
- 4—Mutual guarantee against eastern aggression, including the integrity of Hungary and Romania.

After the ceremony the couple received a blessing from Pope Pius XII.

The ceremony was made possible by negotiations by Capt. Christopher O'Hara of the AMG Office of Vatican Relations, who also performed the marriage, with the Papal Secretary of State.

The bride and bridesmaid, Lt. Rapahda Picucci of Leominster, Mass., both wore satin gowns sent from the United States. Warrant Officer Don N. Schneider of Minneapolis was best man. S-Sgt. Joseph Gallant of Rumford, Me., and Tech. James Sweeney of Grossepoint, Mich., assisted in the ceremony.

Noxon Case Goes to Jury

By PAULINE WARREN

PITTSFIELD, July 6—The fate of John F. Noxon, Jr., wealthy corporation lawyer charged with murder in the electrocution of his abnormal infant son, was placed in the hands of a Berkshire County jury just before noon today.

The jury took the case for deliberation after listening for two hours to the solemn charge of Judge Abraham E. Pinanski, who told them they could return one of three verdicts—not guilty, guilty of murder in the first degree, or guilty of murder in the second degree.

In his instructions, the judge informed the jury they were not to consider manslaughter—either voluntary or involuntary—in their deliberations.

Judge Pinanski made his ruling to that effect the other day, basing his decision on the recent ruling of the full bench of the supreme judicial court in the case of Mrs. Beatrice Bouvier of Ware, by which she was freed after serving 14 months of a 20-year term on a manslaughter conviction.

In his charge the judge likewise stressed the fact that Noxon's innocence or guilt must be proven beyond all reasonable doubt since the evidence against him was circumstantial.

He also warned the jurors against performing or attempting to perform many electrical experiments with the exhibits in the case, which include numerous electric cords, wires and other appliances.

Ruled out was the possibility that the child had been "murdered with extreme atrocity and cruelty," as the judge asserted there was no evidence presented to warrant this.

WEIGH CAREFULLY

"As human beings you may feel sympathy or compassion for the defendant and his child," the judge declared, "but such sympathy and compassion must not be allowed to color your judgment."

"In common parlance, you are to 'size up' the witnesses and the defendant—to weigh their testimony. Ask yourself what interest they have in the outcome of the trial."

"If you find Lawrence Noxon met his death by accident or misadventure as the defendant claims, then the defendant cannot be held responsible and you must find him not guilty."

"The burden remains with the Commonwealth to prove this crime was murder and, if it is shown that the defendant committed the crime, the burden still remains on the Commonwealth to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that this was murder in the first degree, or else the verdict can be guilty of murder in the second degree."

RIGHT TO LIFE

"For you to convict him there must be proof beyond reasonable doubt—proof to a moral certainty. There must be a fair mind, an abiding conviction of his guilt."

As Judge Pinanski spoke, the defendant sat erect in his cage, his face calm but showing a flicker of interest when he leaned forward as the judge warned the jurors against allowing their verdict to be colored by bias or prejudice.

"No right can be greater to the defendant than the right to life itself," declared the judge.

Following the announcement that WAC Capt. Ruth Briggs of Ashway, R. I., now on duty in Britain, will be married to Col. Son Elliott's Fiancee R. I. Girl WAC Capt. Ruth Briggs, 32-year-old secretary, and the intended bride of much-married Col. Elliott Roosevelt, is a native of Ashway, R. I., it was disclosed today.

Capt. Briggs, whose mother admitted the romance at Port Edwards, Wis., is the daughter of Mrs. Franz Rosebush and the latter's first husband, the late Ralph Briggs.

Mrs. Rosebush admitted that her daughter and the twice-divorced son of the President had been fast friends ever since they met at Casablanca during the Roosevelt-Churchill conference.

Capt. Briggs was attached to the staff of Gen. Eisenhower and now is in London as secretary to Lt.-Gen. Walter B. Smith, chief of staff for Gen. Eisenhower.

As a secretary who had a flair for amateur theatricals, Miss Briggs joined the WAC two years ago and was one of the first five WACs to go overseas. She survived a torpeding en route from England to Africa.

Col. Roosevelt, who was commissioned a captain and won swift promotion, was first married to Elizabeth Donner of Philadelphia, who divorced him in 1937 at Reno on grounds of cruelty.

Five days later, Elliott married Ruth Goggins. She filed suit for divorce last March on grounds of cruelty and was granted her freedom a month later.

Japs on Saipan Face Slaughter

By Associated Press

Overwhelming American forces which had caught the Japanese with too little and too late pressed forward today to wipe out the last traces of resistance on newly-conquered Saipan and Noemfoor islands.

A slaughter impended on Saipan. At the northeast tip of this Pacific Isle 1500 miles from Tokyo and the Philippines, Japanese crowded by the thousands in caves, pillboxes, blockhouses and mountain passes, awaiting doom.

Correspondent Howard Handelman said the Japs, soldiers and civilians, were resigned to their fate but determined on a last-ditch fight against "Americans they know they can't halt."

The Saipan battle was no walk-over. Adm. Nimitz said: "I think it will be a hard fight, until most of them are killed." As the Marines and infantry tightened the trap they ran into ever-heavier defenses.

Behind the front the cleanup of Garapan, Tanapag and isolated resistance points proceeded. Tokyo radio announced American warships bombed nearby Guam and Tinian and air-raided Rota and Pagan yesterday. These raids were in line with the Navy's relentless attacks to hamstring all bases from which the enemy could come to Saipan's rescue.

Jap circles also feared an American landing in the Bonin Islands between Saipan and Tokyo, said radio Berlin. The Bonins and nearby Volcano Islands have been hit repeatedly by Navy forces.

For the second day paratroopers descended on Noemfoor from C-47s to help seize Kornasoren, second airport to fall into American hands since the invasion of northwest New Guinea Sunday.

A third and last airport was next on the list, and another last-ditch stand by the Japs was awaited.

The Chinese bottled up in Hengyang got powerful support from U. S. bombers which dropped them three tons of ammunition and supplies and bombed Japanese-held Canton to the south. Fires set in this coastal city could be seen for 100 miles.

The enemy had the edge in the Hengyang battle, however, putting the surrounded city under terrific attack. Chinese said 6000 Japs were killed there in 10 days, in testimony of the bitter defense.

South of Hengyang China's troops recaptured Lungmoon, 80 miles northeast of Canton. The fighting appeared spreading over south China through which runs the Hankow-Canton railway, coveted prize of the Jap offensive.

In Burma the British captured a village 14 miles west of Mogaung, in the area where Gen. Stilwell expects to build the Ledo road to China.

F. D., De Gaulle To Meet Twice

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle, arriving today on a dramatic mission to improve United States-French relations, will have at least two conferences with President Roosevelt during his four-day visit.

The first will occur shortly after his arrival and will begin the round of ceremonies and social functions designed to demonstrate government goodwill towards De Gaulle personally.

Preliminary indications from both French and American sources indicate that a show of good will and friendly relations is likely to be the main initial accomplishment of the French leader's talks with the President and other American officials.

De Gaulle's schedule is understood to call for a luncheon at the White House tomorrow, as well as official State War Department dinners, the former being tonight.

Victory Sure, Reds Slowing Says Chiang Money Parley

CHUNGKING, July 6 (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, in a message to the Chinese people on the eve of the beginning of China's eighth year of war, acknowledged today that the military situation in his country is grave, but told patriots in occupied areas that "liberation is close at hand."

In his "double seventh" message—the Chinese-Japanese war began in 1937 on July 7, the seventh day of the seventh month—Chiang emphasized that victory for the United Nations is certain, and added:

"I believe it won't be long before the war in Europe is brought to a successful conclusion."

The favorable change in Europe, he declared, "is largely attributable to the magnificent and determined Soviet resistance in the past year."

He said there was "a good prospect of the early opening of a China-India land route for transporting a larger supply of war materials into China."

Yanks Slowed In North Italy

By NOLAND NORGAARD

ROME, July 6 (AP)—Indian troops of the Eighth Army have reached the outskirts of Umbertide and are threatening the main road to Florence west of Arezzo, Allied headquarters announced today.

Stiffening German resistance brought the Fifth Army's advance up the Italian west coast to a virtual standstill.

American advance units along the coast were reported in the vicinity of Castiglione, some 10 miles south of Livorno, but they were encountering heavy fire from all types of German weapons, including 170 millimeter rifles with a range up to 20 miles.

The Germans launched four fierce counter-attacks yesterday against Americans holding half the town of Rosignano, but all were beaten off.

Further inland heavy fighting was reported in the outskirts of Castellina, but U. S. tank forces succeeded in driving a mile and one-half northeast of Monte Catini under sharp fire from enemy troops on high ground outside the town.

"The enemy is particularly nervous about Fifth Army movements and is keeping all highways under constant artillery fire."

Dane Steals Nazi Plane, Shot Down

STOCKHOLM, July 6 (AP)—Swedish anti-aircraft winged a German plane early today over Helsingborg and when it crashed in the water, out popped a 19-year-old Dane who said he had stolen the plane and started for England.

He gave the name of Ilsest. He said he worked as a laborer at the Copenhagen airport for two weeks and without German knowledge gassed up a Heinkel-111 and took off before the Nazis knew what was happening. He headed the craft up the Kattegat, apparently to avoid crossing heavily-gunned Denmark.

Swedish military police fished him from the water unhurt and took him into military custody. The plane was a total wreck.

Jacques Chevalier Kidnaped, Say Nazis

By the Associated Press

The Berlin radio said today Jacques Chevalier, 62-year-old former French minister for education, had been kidnaped from his home in Cernilly by a force of "Terrorists" and his whereabouts was unknown.

Chevalier, appointed director of the Department of French Labor in Germany under the Vichy government in November, 1942, had also served as secretary of state for family and health.

Normandy Slogan: Out of Foxholes by Thanksgiving

By HAL BOYLE

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS, Normandy, June 30 (Delayed) (AP)—Take it from the American boys who are fighting it, this Second World War in Europe is going to be wound up this year.

That old First World War battery, "Out of the Trenches by Christmas," is recalled by the victory slogan of these sons of men who helped wind up the last major engagement in France in 1918.

This time it goes: "Out of the foxholes by Thanksgiving."

That may seem premature and overoptimistic, but a lot of veterans who a year ago laughed at the people back home who began predicting an early end to the war after the fall of Sicily think now the Germans are about ripe for the knockout punch.

Inspiring this belief are the swift capture of Cherbourg, decline in the Luftwaffe, great growth of Allied airpower, America's improved ground weapons and undrained manpower, and the fact the Germans are now spread-eagled and fighting on three fronts.

"Listen, pal, nobody can take it long when he is being kicked around from three different directions," said one veteran who survived two previous campaigns and is now convinced his life among C ration cans won't last forever.

"That Hitler ain't any better than the next guy when he gets caught in a solving doozie."

These soldiers—from the rawest replacement to the most battle-tried doughfoot—are more anxious to hit the enemy hard and often than troops in previous campaigns because the victory thrill is in the air.

It runs through the entire Army. Most of the soldiers don't kid themselves about it being easy. They know big battles are ahead but they feel that the Germans no longer can take many titanic smashes.

Red-Headed Singer, Husband Sue Hotel

NEW YORK, July 6—Reunion in the respectable Hotel Taft was hardly reunion at all for the gorgeous red-headed singer, Marcia Dale, and Pvt. Robert D. Kirstein, her soldier-husband.

In fact, it was one long series of embarrassments—a hotel detective and all—and that's the reason each seeks $25,000 to soothe ruffled feelings.

The $50,000 suit was filed in Manhattan's Supreme Court by attorneys who stated that the embarrassed husband now is serving his country overseas.

The alleged incident happened on the night of Feb. 5 when GI Robert got tired of camp life and dashed into New York to feast his eyes on his beautiful wife. She had returned from Boston where she appeared at the Buddies' Club.

Right then, the hotel detective and another hotel employee burst into their room, according to the suit. For a while they were forced to remain undressed, and only after they produced proof of their marriage were they given their clothes, it is alleged.

After that, Kirstein was ordered to register at the hotel and Marcia was told to leave, according to the complaint.

The defendants in the suit, the Hotel Taft Corp., offered the following defense at once. It is a Taft rule, they said, that "where a guest registers for a bedroom for single occupancy, that room shall not be used or occupied by two people of different sex."

'Budget Baby' Five Today; Little Brother a Problem

CHICAGO, July 6 (AP)—Two may live as cheaply as one, but they spell double budget trouble to Mrs. Joseph Derer, mother of Chicago's "budget baby," Sharon. Analyses of Sharon's expenditures, kept since the child's birth, five years ago today, have overlapped those of her 17-month-old brother, Gary.

Because of this factor, coupled with what Mrs. Derer described as family objections, she did not disclose an itemized account of Sharon's cost to the family in the last year.

$400 Diamond Lost 17 Years Ago Found

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., July 6 (AP)—Mary Ann Scholes, 11, was making mud pies. She stuck in her thumb and pulled out a plum—a $400 diamond.

The stone was found in the backyard of the residence the Scholes family rents from State Supreme Court Justice T. J. Mabry. It was returned to Mrs. Mabry, who lost it from her engagement ring—17 years ago.

"The two children eat so much of the same foods," the mother said, "that it is hard to tell exactly the expenses of each. However, I still keep a separate budget for each, and such items as Sharon's dancing and riding lessons are easy to tabulate."

Mrs. Derer's budget was started at Sharon's birth to prove her contention that a baby need not be a luxury. Sharon's first year expenses totaled $270.17 and those of her second, $225.05. "Third year costs of $283.94 were highest, with those of the fourth down to $273.98."

64 Workmen Sealed In Flaming Coal Mine

BELLAIRE, O., July 6 (AP)—A desperate struggle to save 64 coal miners trapped by fire in the Powhatan mine was abandoned today when fresh flames drove back rescue crews. Fifteen hours after the fire broke out, State Mine Inspector Richard McGee announced there was no chance of bringing out the men alive and that the burning area, two miles from the shaft entrance, was being sealed.

Before the fire got out of control, rescue workers had cut a new tunnel 500 feet through coal and rock in a vain effort to bypass the flames and reach the men. The fire broke out when a rock fall broke a high-voltage trolley and sparks ignited coal near the junction of the main passageway and a 3600-foot dead-end corridor in which the victims were working.

The mine is the largest soft coal pit in Ohio.

No word had been received from the men since the fire broke out.

Closing the shaft will cut off the oxygen supply and the fire will burn itself out. The shaft must remain sealed for several weeks before workers can return to remove the bodies of the victims.

In the mine when the fire started were 199 men. All but the 64, however, were in areas from which they could reach exits.

Immediately upon receiving the news, George Emery, a 35-year-old foreman and father of four children, went into the pit to help the trapped men. Hours later he had not returned.

SAIPAN, June 24 (delayed)—(AP)—Marines sprawled in foxholes and read their first mail since storming the beaches of Saipan today.

Sgt. Bill Fletcher of Nashville, Tenn., got a money order from home with a note telling him to buy whatever he needed most. Fletcher chuckled to the marine in the next foxhole, "Say Mac, here's 10 bucks—run over to the corner tavern and bring back three cases of beer."

Sgt. Lee Paoeliskas of East Granby, Vt., read aloud a letter from the girl next door: "Listen to this, guys—Are there any girls where you are, white ones I mean, and are you doing any dancing?"

LAWRENCE, July 6 (AP)—Shortly after Samuel Issenberg accompanied his son, Joseph, 17, to Boston today, where the latter was to enlist in the Army Air Force, he received notification that another son, Milton, 22, was missing in action.

The War Department telegram said Milton, a second lieutenant bombardier, had not been heard from since he left on his 10th mission over Europe June 26.

2 Shots Fired In Store Holdup

Two gunmen, about 35 years old, one of whom fired two intimidating shots, today robbed Jacob Mouraean, 45, manager of the Newtowne Pharmacy, Massachusetts ave., North Cambridge, of $120 in cash.

Mouraean, who lives in Medford st., Arlington, told police the men pushed him into a rear room and made him drop to the floor. They first took his pocketbook containing gasoline ration books and then emptied the cash register.

"Keep back here and don't make a move until we are gone," they ordered. One of the men then fired two shots.

2 McGrath Suspects Hunted

A well known Scituate man was sought for questioning in the murder of little Frances McGrath of Dorchester today in the aftermath of a new and relentless grilling of two Norwell residents.

The Norwell men, previously questioned, were placed in the company of the Scituate suspect in an automobile outside the Scituate Harbor bowling alleys on the night the 10-year-old youngster vanished.

State detectives and police of five towns have been checking the Scituate man's movements from that moment until the little victim's body was found several days later in a Norwell lane.

Police Chief Michael Stewart of Scituate announced he had given orders for his men to pick up still a fourth suspect known to have been in Scituate the night the child disappeared.

Hub Tax Rate Indicated Safe

Although Boston's 1944 tax rate of $39.90, representing a $1.10 reduction, has been disapproved by State Tax Comm. Henry F. Long, it was indicated today that it still will stand since the tax commissioner has only advisory rights in fixing local tax rates.

Comm. Long also disapproved of the new rates for Cambridge, Worcester, Taunton, Holyoke, Marlboro and Lynn.

Long's refusal to indorse the Boston rate, it was reported, is because the Boston assessors included—without his approval—the $239,705 balance of the surplus commodity fund which remained when local financing of the federal program was dropped in 1941. The law, it was reported, provides that any remaining funds be appropriated for public welfare.

Company Reduced, Fire Officials Quit

FAIRHAVEN, July 6—Fairhaven Fire Engine Co. 4 today was without a command following resignations in protest over reduction of the company to five men, half its normal strength.

Capt. Augustus H. Xavier and Lieuts. Webster Wilde and John M. Riley said they refused to take the responsibility of leading the company after the board of fire engineers had dropped two more call men because of insufficient town funds.

Picked up by Patrolman Benjamin Curley, the little girl was taken to the nearby office of Dr. John P. Reardon, who removed a .22 caliber rifle bullet from her forehead. It narrowly missed striking her left eye.

Police who investigated said the girl's condition was not serious and that punishment of the young marksman would be left to his parents. The latter was found when police traced the direction of the bullet.

Valise Baby's Death Probed

NEW YORK, July 6 (INS)—A complete investigation was to be made by the Kings County district attorney today into the death of the three-week-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wagner.

Mrs. Wagner, 20, told Louis Andreucci, assistant district attorney, that the child was smothered in bed April 20 and that she and her husband became panic stricken, put the dead infant in a valise and buried her in a shallow grave near Belmont, L. I. Police found the child's body and an autopsy showed the child had died of fractures of the arm and ribs.

No charges were filed pending completion of the investigation. Mrs. Wagner and her husband have since separated, police said, and Wagner is working out of town.

Big Primary Vote Indicated in Boston

By FRANK REILLY

Bostonians are expected to cast a heavy vote Tuesday in the first mid-summer State primaries held in the 35 years since inauguration of the present system of selecting nominees as standard bearers of the major political parties of the Commonwealth.

Widespread interest in the Democratic contests for nominations as governor, lieutenant governor, for sheriff of Suffolk County and for the national House of Representatives, and for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor will, it is believed, cause Boston voters to go to the polls in much greater numbers than two years ago when only 40 per cent of the electorate participated in the State's first wartime primaries.

BALLOTS TO SERVICEMEN

While the State election does not take place until Nov. 7, party primaries are being held Tuesday in order to permit printing of ballots and distribution of them to servicemen and women in all parts of the world.

Bostonians, including thousands now absent at the military and naval services, eligible to participate in next week's primaries number 320,624. Two years ago 342,177 were listed as voters for the primaries. In the 1940 peacetime primaries, 350,248 were listed as eligible to vote.

Five well known men are batting for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor. They are Dist. Atty. Robert F. Bradford of Middlesex County, a resident of Cambridge; Jarvis Hunt of North Attleboro, president of the Senate; Rudolph F. King of Millis, speaker of the House of Representatives; Mayor Daniel E. McLean of Beverly, and William H. McMasters of Belmont, a leader of the old age pension group.

CONTEST AT FEVER HEAT

Bradford has substantial support of the Middlesex County Republican organization, one of the strongest political units in the Commonwealth.

Hunt and King, through their service on Beacon Hill, have made powerful contacts in Republican strongholds in all sections of the State while Mayor McLean has long been a power in Essex County.

This contest has reached fever heat in many Republican communities because of the dissatisfaction with New Deal policies which is evident in most Massachusetts cities. Republican leaders believe the Dewey-Bricker ticket will win in Massachusetts in November and that candidates for lesser offices will ride to victory with the topnotchers.

An oblique effort to draw Wendell L. Willkie into camp moved forward today as supporters of Gov. Dewey bid publicly for campaign co-operation from congressional and senatorial candidates.

Although the GOP presidential nominee carefully avoided any appearance of soliciting Willkie's backing, he gave the strategy left-handed approval by including Sen. Sinclair Weeks, long-time Willkie enthusiast, in a list of Massachusetts Republicans invited to confer with him here Monday on campaign plans.

Weeks, reached by telephone at his farm retreat in New Hampshire, told this reporter he hoped Willkie would support the ticket actively but had no knowledge of the 1940 nominee's political plans.

Headed by House Minority Leader Joseph Martin, the list of Massachusetts visitors includes congressmen seeking re-election and candidates such as Gov. Leverett Saltonstall.

Dewey insisted there was no significance in the Weeks invitation, but in New York, Herbert Brownell, Jr., national chairman, capped this move by naming both Weeks and Ralph Cake of Oregon on a 15-member executive committee. Cake was Willkie's campaign manager before the latter quit the presidential race.

Appraised of this action, Weeks said both he and Cake had told Gov. Dewey they would do anything they could to help him win the election.

"Does that include attempting to induce Willkie to speak for the ticket?" he was asked.

"Well, I don't know," Weeks replied.

Infantile Vaccine Seen Encouraging

CHICAGO, July 6 (AP)—A new vaccine for infantile paralysis, made by the recently-developed ultraviolet irradiation technique, has produced a high degree of protection in mice, and the results offer encouragement as to its usefulness. The Journal of the American Medical Ass'n announced today.

The vaccine was made from the Lansing strain, a human form of the disease which also affects mice.

After vaccination, the mice not only showed significant resistance to subsequent inoculations of the active disease virus into their brains, but also developed large numbers of neutralizing antibodies, the substances which fight the virus poison.

The new vaccine was announced by Albert Milzer, Ph.D., Franz Oppenheimer, Ph.D., and Dr. Sidney O. Levinson, all of the Samuel Deutsch Serum Center of Chicago's Michael Reese Hospital.

Dr. Levinson and associates developed the new method of making vaccines by exposing a thin continuously flowing film to a new ultraviolet lamp for less than a second. Heat and chemicals have been used heretofore to kill or inactivate bacteria or virus for vaccines.

Skin specialists tell me their first warning to girls with skin trouble is "Stop using cake make-up".

Yes, that cake make-up you put on so innocently may (1) Dry the delicate surface of your skin, making it rough and flaky. (2) Cork up and help stretch the tiny pore-openings. (3) Leave germ-breeding deposits in the pore-openings to become ugly blemishes.

Why take all that risk, when you can have the smooth, even "Bawlow look" you want—without danger! Why put up with troublesome "wet" powder, when Lady Esther Face Powder gives fresher, more exciting glamor at the touch of your puff.

Break With Finland Seen Bow to Stalin

By KARL VON WIEGAND

Dean of American War Correspondents

"Ave Caesar! Morituri te salutamus."

This was the salute to Caesar by the Roman gladiators as they began their last battle in the arena of the colosseum in ancient Rome.

"We about to die salute thee." Well might Finland, making preparations for her last battles, give the salute "Ave America. The independence and liberty and Democracy of a nation about to die salute thee."

Many Americans, not knowing the intricacies and expediencies of diplomacy and statecraft, find it difficult to understand the compelling motives or the necessity that actuated Sec. of State Hull in severing diplomatic relations with Finland at this moment.

ANOTHER YIELDING

On the surface (and I have heard the thought voiced by many) it is difficult to escape the impression that it was another yielding, another concession, in our foreign policy to the mighty Red marshal in the Kremlin.

Finland has not been even technically our enemy until this severance of diplomatic relations by Washington.

Finland is at war with Soviet Russia.

Communist Marshal Stalin has NOT found it necessary in conformity with HIS foreign policy to sever diplomatic relations with Japan, with whom WE are at war.

NEVER ATTACKED US

Finland cannot be charged with being a potential or actual danger to the security of America. The Finns have not fired one shot at our boys.

In 1939 little Finland, a nation of 3,887,217 people, in an area about one-fifth smaller than California, was attacked on Nov.

30 by Soviet Russia, the Red Colossus larger than the United States and claiming a population of 193,000,000.

All the world, especially America and Britain, DENOUNCED THE SOVIET RUSSIAN AGGRESSION.

The Finns have fought with the heroism of the Vikings. They are taking their medicine.

GRIEVOUS LOSS

They took the risks and responsibility and are paying the price with that same uncompensating loyalty that Finland paid its war debt to America.

Valor, heroism, honor and loyalty under any and all circumstances to obligations taken is outstanding in the Nordic sagas and Viking tradition.

The world of free peoples and nations will suffer grievous loss when independent Finland goes down but will be the richer for the brief 27 years that Finnish independence, liberty and freedom shone so brightly.

Burkes Turn From Skating to Fighting

By HUCK FINNEGAN

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND—The Record-American Silver Skates Derby has come to England. That was the first impression as we encountered bespectacled, whiffled Capt. Lee F. Burke of 491 Pleasant st., Worcester. For the Worcester Burkes rank with the Fitchburg Landrys and Rosindale Broadhursts atop the select list of Silver Skates trophy winners. But it develops that the Burkes are as famous on the field of battle as they are on the rink. Scan the family record:

Edmund, 20—First lieutenant, combat intelligence, stationed in North Africa. He left Gov. Sallott's council to enlist.

Lee, 24—Ground force expert in England, until recently infantry company commander.

Philip, 24—First lieutenant, infantry. Wounded at Anzio.

Jimmy, 17—In Navy.

BACK BROKEN, HE FLIES

There is also Bob, 26, who was in the Army Air Corps before the war but who is now an experimental test pilot for United Aircraft, Stratford, Ct.

A broken back kept Bob from re-enlisting, but couldn't keep him from flying. As a member of the Pan-American Air Corps, he took part in the evacuation of civilians from Cairo and El Alamein. As a member of the Ferry Command, he has flown to India, Iran, China, Ankara. He is qualified to fly any ship built.

Mary, of course, was the family's No. 1 skater, though Jimmy, Claire and Anne can fly. Only 22 now, she won so many trophies at the Garden that she is no longer eligible to compete. Now Mrs. Bob Perry, the champion suffered the great misfortune of having her husband killed in Colorado. He was a lieutenant in the air corps.

Lee Burke graduated from Worcester Classical, B. U. College of Business Administration and B. U. Law '33, completing his B. U. courses in six years. Twice he was president of his law class.

Lt. Gould lived at 101 Western ave., Cambridge, with his mother (Alice) and is engaged to Irene Bradley of 133 River st., Cambridge. He used to swim in the Cambridge "Y" and chummed with boxer Red Priest, now with the Army in England; Red Crowley, an air cadet; Corp. Frank Buckley, with the infantry in the South Pacific; and Fred Burt, a Merchant Marine.

MEDFORD BROTHERS

Capt. John I. Herlihy, 26 and single, of 589 Riverside ave., Medford, is a squadron engineering officer with the Eighth Air Force, a whiz-bang job for such a youngster.

Capt. Herlihy graduated from Medford High in '35, M.I.T. in '39 and was an industrial engineer at Inland Steel, Chicago, for three years before entering the service.

He managed track at Tech, and is a brother of Dick Herlihy who was a state 440 and broad jump champ at Medford High, and who captained track at Medford and B. U. Dick is an officer with the Field Artillery in England, but the brothers haven't met here.

A cousin, Frank B. Herlihy, is a captain in an armored division here. Capt. Frank lives at 2 Chisholm rd., Rosindale, graduated from Public Latin in '38, M.I.T. in '42, was president of the A. A. there, also track manager. An intellectual group, for fair.

Lt. James M. Bunce, 51 Oxford st., Hartford, graduated from Loomis School in '35 with Ulysses Lupien of the Phillies and from Yale in '39 with Eddie Collins, Jr. of the A's.

He graduated from Yale medical and served his internship at Johns Hopkins when the Army

Publicity on B-C Gas Cards Delayed Here

An OPA directive to place the glare of publicity on all holders of B and C gasoline rations issued after July 1 has not been received yet in New England. And when it is, ration boards will be faced with a task as big as any they yet have undertaken.

This is the opinion of Eldon C. Shoup, New England rationing executive of OPA, who said several days must pass before any plan could be evolved to carry out such an edict.

National OPA, which had struggled with black market operations with varying degrees of success, now blames big leakage of gasoline upon rations passed out to B and C card holders who are not entitled to them.

National leaders feel that if the public can see who is getting such rations, and the reasons given for such applications, a saving in gasoline will result.

Publicity would not be given to such rations passed out prior to July 1. Those who may have made false or exaggerated claims before that time are safe.

"There would be a tremendous amount of clerical work required to make all these records available to the press, the radio, or any neighbor who demanded them," Shoup said.

"There is a shortage of competent clerical workers now and it will be quite a problem to find a way to make the records available and still keep ration boards functioning."

Fighting Men Buying Bonds

Army and Navy personnel whose homes are in Massachusetts not only are doing the fighting but have purchased $8,000,000 worth of Fifth War Loan bonds as well.

This was the spurring reminder today of the War Finance Committee, who warned that Bay State residents must step-up buying of E war bonds if quotas here are to be met.

"If men who are fighting can buy bonds surely those who they men are protecting should be inspired to do likewise," a spokesman said.

Due to the delay in reports from issuing agencies through the State, officials expressed concern over the fact that 63.5 per cent of E bond subscriptions remains to be raised before midnight Saturday.

Through the close of business Monday, volume in E bonds in Massachusetts totalled $40,900,000. This is 26.5 per cent of the $152,000,000 quota for this issue, officials pointed out.

Officials added that Fifth War Loan purchases of all types of bonds now are within striking distance of the $528,000,000 goal. Through July 3 the aggregate was $700,900,000, or 84.6 per cent of the quota, with the Greater Boston area still leading in the overall state returns.

U. S. Traders Try to Sell Allied Nations Ghost Rifles

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—these persons in turn appointed their own agents.

Meanwhile the War Department, shipped the rifles off to Britain to arm the country after Dunkerque. There were hardly enough guns left in this country to arm America's own forces. But the according to Ludlow, did not slow down the mushrooming sales plan which today is still going strong.

Officials finally decided to make the story public because they were fed up with extremely difficult situations they say were created between the U. S. government and almost every Allied government by the sales activities.

The information, therefore, came out in the official Department of State Bulletin in an article by James M. Ludlow, an official of the Department's munitions control unit.

None of the promoters, as Ludlow calls the peddlers of the ghost guns, is named. And none has ever succeeded in actually making a sale. Both the State and Justice Departments have tried vainly, it was said, to have the activities stopped.

Here, says Ludlow's account, is what happened. After the war started in Europe the War Department announced it had a quantity of rifles to sell to friendly governments at approximately $12.50.

One of the persons who saw the letter apparently decided that by finding a purchaser for the government he could earn some easy money.

He promised commissions to individuals who would help him.

Gaming Raid Fiasco New Blow to Police

The reaction of the Boston police to the failure of Atty-Gen. Bushnell's vice and gambling crusade, together with some of the old aspects of that endeavor, is treated in this 11th article of the series on the decline of morale and efficiency in the department.

By BARRINGTON WELLES

It's a far cry back to 1919 when the decline of the spirit of the Boston Police Dept. began. At no time has relief and cure been available, as this and the next article of the series will show.

Atty-Gen. Bushnell had the means. He had only to press a button on his desk and utter a command. A real roundup of the vice and gambling syndicates could have been effected and the local police force could have been given the sorely-needed prescription to restore it to good health.

Let's look again at the record and see how the good Beacon Hill doctor treated the patient. True, he did diagnose the disease, but so had everyone else by that time.

HAD EXPERT

Bushnell for several months prepared for the raids that came to such a sorry climax in January, 1943. Constantly at his side was a governmental crime investigator familiar with every racket in the state.

Also at his service was the able, energetic state detective bureau of the Department of Public Safety. The bureau was requisitioned for the gathering of evidence and arrests.

For did he overlook the services of a public relations director. The director was privy to all the planning of the raids, although not an officer of the law. He went in and out of police conferences as he pleased until state police authorities aroused by the unorthodox practice and invasion of official privacy, finally refused to allow the director any more consideration than they would the other newspapermen.

TREATED ALL ALIKE

In passing, it may be said that the state detective bureau for the past 30 years has treated all the newspapers alike in the matter of news releases.

With one more pardonable digression, I cite for the record the fact these newspapers were aware of the plans of the great crusade and had even prepared pictures of the syndicate leaders whom they knew were bound to be arrested—yet there was not a single leak. Bushnell registered his appreciation by denouncing the press as meddlers.

The script of Mr. Bushnell's movie had everything that his public relations director could desire up to the eve of the raids that were to k. o. crime in five big cities of the Commonwealth. But even he was to vanish in chagrin at their outcome before the last flicker of the finished movie.

The preceding chapter of the series showed how small was the catch of gamblers in the Boston raids—the sentencing of three men out of a net of 33. In Worcester and Springfield there were no jail sentences, only fines.

NEVER EXPLAINED

In the two remaining cities in which the crusade was expected to reap a harvest of criminals there was no police action whatsoever.

Mr. Bushnell has never explained why. Nor has he ever justified the failure of his raids in Boston, Worcester and Springfield to arrest, let alone convict, the big shots of the rackets.

The greater concern of the World War has, of course, led the public to forget the omissions and commissions of the latest state official to meddle in Boston police affairs.

But the police don't forget. They cynically shrug off the whole affair as just another chapter in the political history of the department.

They recall that long before the present administration took office certain police officials began to live beyond their salaries of $5000 or under.

POLITICS THE ANSWER

Preach esprit de corps to some patrolman bruised and battered by gangsters or rioters. He's only human if he asks whether esprit de corps gained that $40,000 home for one of his old bosses—a veritable show place—not to mention a couple of high-priced cars for one of his former bosses.

Give him a pep talk on duty. Respect for the law and civic pride and he's apt to catch whether those street cars has been arrested. He were the hard-way virtues that boarded a trolley car manned by a inspired other old bosses and associates to the top and gained them no less resplendent homes and all of the super-comforts of life.

Politics is his answer to it all. The politics that has broken honest police officers. The politics that pigeon-holed in the desk of a police commissioner the practical, constructive recommendations for the reform of the department as made by Gov. Alvan T. Fuller.

There was an outline of procedure in that splendid report that Atty. Gen. Bushnell might well have followed when he turned from his raids to the ouster of Police Commr. Timilty.

COULD HAVE DONE JOB

The same politics—or whatever it was—that precluded the state police from handling Mr. Bushnell's crusade without wraps—without outside interference.

With its long record of unsurpassed experience and efficiency, that excellent body of police officers could have accomplished all that Mr. Bushnell tried and failed to do. They could have done the job in six months. And what an inspiration that would have been to every police force in the state!

(The concluding article of this series in tomorrow's Boston American discusses the administration of the present commissioner.)

Two Birds, One Stone

Robot Casualties Near 10,000

said. "We do not want more people in London than required for business or purposes of peace or war."

"Children are already being sent away, as parents wish, out of danger area which by no means are exclusively confined to the metropolis. We do not propose to separate mothers from children except by their own wish."

Churchill, speaking to a packed House, said a very high proportion of the casualties caused by the pointless craft were suffered in London. He declared it would be "a mistake" to understate the serious character of the robot bomb attacks.

One Killed Per Bomb

"During the early months of 1943," he said, "we received vague reports that the Germans were developing a new long-range weapon with which they proposed to bombard London."

He said the government did not underestimate the Nazi menace and was upset at what had happened.

"The House will be favorably surprised to learn that actually about one person was killed for one bomb," Churchill said in pointing out that there were 2752 fatalities for the 2754 bombs launched.

Churchill explained that through secret agents and by air reconnaissance work the British had succeeded by July, 1943, in locating at Peenemunde, on the Baltic coast of Germany, many experimental stations connected with flying bomb production and the perfection of long-range rockets.

Last August, he said, the full strength of the British bomber command was sent to attack these installations. The raids were costly, but very great damage was done to the Germans and a number of key German scientists, including the head scientist, who were dwelling together in a so-called "stronghold" through jet establishment, were killed.

Bombing Robot's Nest

The British raids, the prime minister said, delayed for months German plans to bring into action both the flying bombs and long-range rockets.

About the same time, he continued, the British located at Watten, in the Pas de Calais area of France, the first large structures which appeared connected with the firing of long-range rockets.

"This site was heavily attacked 22 long ago as last September a and had been under continuous bomb treatment since.

"We discovered in October last about 100 other structures were being erected along the French coast between Le Havre and Calais," Churchill went on.

"All of the 100 firing points were continually bombed since December. Everyone of them was destroyed by the RAE, with the wholehearted assistance of the growing United States air power."

"If it had not been for our bombing operations in France and Germany, the bombardment of London no doubt would have started six months earlier on a very much heavier scale."

"Under pressure of our counter-measures the enemy has developed a new series of prefabricated structures which could be rapidly assembled and well camouflaged, especially during periods of cloudy weather."

"It is from these comparatively light and very rapidly erected structures that the present attack is being made."

Engineers Study Evil

"The untiring, relentless efforts of British and American air forces are responsible for the delay and diminution of the present scale of attack."

"A special committee, including a great number of engineers, has been established of study counter-measures."

He said a total of about 50,000 tons of bombs had been dropped by the Allies on flying bomb and rocket targets in France and Germany.

The offensive and defensive flying bomb efforts, he said had been exacting for both sides. Quite a considerable proportion of Allied flying power had to be diverted for months from other forms of offensive activity, he said.

The Germans, he said, had sacrificed a good deal of manufacturing strength which could have increased their fighter-bomber forces in order to make the robots.

"It is yet to be tested who has suffered and will suffer most in the process," Churchill said.

The "invisible" battle which has been in progress for more than a year and into which great resources have been poured by both sides now has flashed into the open and "we shall be able, indeed obliged, to watch its progress from our close quarters," Churchill went on.

Public Must Carry On

He said between 100 and 150 flying bombs, each weighing about 10,000 lb., were being discharged daily and had been so discharged for the last two weeks.

Considering the small weight and small penetration power of these bombs the damage done by their effect has been extensive, but cannot at all compare with the terrific destruction by fire and high explosive with which the Allies have been assaulting Berlin, Hamburg, Cologne and scores of other German cities and manufacturing points in the Reich, he said.

"This form of attack no doubt is of trying character and worrisome because it is being spread out through the whole 24 hours."

"The people have just got to get used to that," Churchill declared amid cheers from the floor of Commons.

"Everyone must go about his day and business, whatever it may be, and then when the long day is done they should seek the safest shelter they can find and forget their cares through well-earned sleep."

Churchill said that penicillin would be available for treatment of all flying bomb casualties.

He declared that the flying bomb was literally and essentially indiscriminate in its nature, purpose and effect.

A large number of building workers, he said, were engaged in the repair of damaged buildings. Copious reinforcements have arrived daily from the provinces. Various defense methods against the robot bombs, he said, include a great deployment of batteries of anti-aircraft guns and balloons.

All Can Leave If Wish

The government did not consider the scale of the current enemy attack warranted compulsory evacuation of London, he said, but he revealed the government had arranged for railways to provide large services of trains from the capital for those wishing to leave.

As to the future, he went on, he could give no guarantee.

When he visited scenes of flying bomb damage Saturday, he said, the only question asked of him was:

"What are you going to do about it?"

He replied:

"Everything within human power, and we never failed yet." Churchill declared the British will not allow battle operations in Normandy or attacks that are being made against special targets in Germany to suffer.

"They come first," he said. "We must fit our own domestic arrangements into the general scheme of war operations."

"London will never be conquered," he declared, and "will never fail in her renown."

Churchill said that as far as hospital accommodations were concerned the British were prepared for so many more casualties in the battle for Normandy than actually had occurred and six aircraft, the air ministry said,

WACs, Yanks Robots' Victims

By ROBERT WILSON

LONDON, July 6 (AP)—A number of American soldiers were killed recently by a flying bomb and a group of WACs—many of whom had a narrow escape in nearby quarters—said the tragedy struck so quickly they had time to be frightened only when they saw bodies lying in the street.

Sgt. Rhonda Laird of Houston, Tex., and Cpl. Mary Lou Bernick of Sarasota, Fla., were eating breakfast about 7:30 a. m. in the basement when the blast occurred.

"It all happened so suddenly," said Sgt. Laird. "The door was blown off right behind me. The windows were broken. We ran upstairs to see if anyone was hurt. No one was. Then we got up enough nerve to go out and see what happened."

Cpl. Bernick said: "I don't feel like talking about that part of it."

Some soldiers were killed in a truck waiting to go on rescue work to help victims of other bombings. Sgt. Laird added:

In the room where the two girls had been sleeping for safety the beds were covered with glass. They went up to their regular room and found nothing broken but a small mirror.

Sgt. Laird said Sgt. Mary D. Thatcher of Indianapolis, Ind., was "the most wonderful one of all of us. She came running down stairs, got in a jeep and made trip after trip taking wounded to the hospital."

Pfc. Dorothy Lacey of Cincinnati, was knocked down by the blast. She had a tray and a cup in her hands, but got only a nick on one hand.

Thereafter had for the present a considerable immediate margin of reserve.

EXPECTS HIGHER LOSS
He said the total number of fatal casualties sustained would be increased somewhat by the death of people now in hospitals from their injuries. Many minor injuries, he said, were caused by glass splinters.

Referring to the shooting down of the robot missiles before they alight themselves, Churchill said that in some cases this means that the bombs will explode on the ground anyway and therefore places where they should be shot down have to be chosen where a successful hit will not mean that an explosion will occur in a built-up area.

Churchill said the government was making arrangements to transfer the poor and those not engaged in war work as speedily as possible to safer areas.

Henceforth, he said, monthly figures on flying bomb casualties will be issued.

"I must say a word about our American friends and Allies in London," he went on.

"From the highest official to the ordinary soldier whom one meets they have in every way made common cause with us and have been forthcoming as helpers with assistance of every kind."

Toward the close of his address, he announced the British had decided to make use of deep shelters which hitherto had been held in reserve.

RAF BOMBERS WALLOP Rocket Bomb Bases
LONDON, July 6 (AP)—RAF bombers made an attack in great strength last night on flying bomb installations and other military objectives in northern France.

Whole squadrons of Mosquitos attacked a synthetic oil plant at Buer-Schölvén in the German Ruhr, the air ministry announced today.

"At Buer-Schölvén smoke from large fires rose to a height of 10,000 feet," said the announcement. The entire operations cost six aircraft, the air ministry said,

Decoy Tanks Used by Nazis

MADRID, July 6 (AP)—The Germans in France are making systematic use of decoys in an effort to divert Allied air attacks and have stationed lightly-armed troops throughout the country as window dressing to give an appearance of military strength in every section, refugees reaching Spain declare.

"All German troops not actually fighting are sent to work building dummy tanks," said one man who served with German occupation troops in the south of France.

"These wooden tanks are placed on hill tops and other points where they are likely to be seen by low-flying Allied planes in an effort to divert their strafing and bombing from actual tanks and motorized equipment concealed elsewhere."

"From the highest official to the ordinary soldier whom one meets they have in every way made common cause with us and have been forthcoming as helpers with assistance of every kind."

Toward the close of his address, he announced the British had decided to make use of deep shelters which hitherto had been held in reserve.

Back Your Defenders!

MILLIONS of Americans celebrated the birthday of their country by buying War Bonds. Millions more should do so before the current week ends.

What is better evidence of our FAITH in America than a contribution to the success of its cause, to the survival and permanence of its free institutions?

Every American must surely do, not merely something to help win the war, but ALL he can.

Many Americans are offering their very lives to win the war.

Most of the rest of us are engaged in production for war—which is as important as fighting, but less exacting of personal sacrifice and security.

We certainly do not ask MORE of our fighting men.

Our problem and duty is to DO MORE FOR THEM, and to do our very UTMOST for them, in order that their hard job may be finished more quickly and that as many as possible of them may come home safely.

The purchase of a War Bond is not a contribution of money alone.

It is in veritable fact an act of valuable and indispensable assistance to the fighting man.

It enables you to stand BESIDE the fighting man—not to share his danger, surely, but to give him a better chance of surviving danger.

It enables you to stand beside the wounded man, with the modern magic of medicines and scientific care that will ease his agony and restore him to health and preserve him for an honored and productive place in our national life after the war.

What American would consciously and deliberately WITHHOLD these vital services from our fighting men?

Americans Need Religion

SPEAKING in Boston a few days ago, Francis P. Matthews, representing 450,000 Knights of Columbus, said that contacts with men high in the industrial and economic life of the nation have convinced him that the one hope of the nation lies in a return to religion.

"We are all aware of conditions in the world today," Mr. Matthews said. "And of the uncertainty and hazards in our own country."

"There is much that is menacing. The smart thing today is to disregard precedence. The more startling, the more unusual a situation or an act may be, the more acceptable it is in certain circles."

"People must get back to religion and the stability of the church."

Mr. Matthews is right.

The planners of the better, more hopeful world of tomorrow do not have to waste time and energy seeking elaborate prescriptions for enduring peace.

They will find the best prescription of all clearly set forth in their Bibles.

Help Service Men to Vote

ARTHUR J. SHINNERS, town clerk of Brookline, has announced a campaign to have every Brookline service man vote in the approaching Presidential election.

This can be done, Mr. Shinners says, by doing all that the amended State election laws require and A LITTLE MORE.

For example, instead of waiting for relatives of men in the armed forces to register the men as voters, Brookline is contacting and advising the relatives.

And instead of waiting for service men in distant parts of the globe to write for ballots, Brookline is writing to them.

Every town and city in Massachusetts should resolve to do as much.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Well, kids, if I hadn't heard this with my own ears I wouldn't have believed it. The War Department gave the dem snoot to the Democratic National Committee!

I do not know whether this is because Secretary of War Stimson has seen a blinding light and gone back to being a Republican, or because of Congressional helps that government agencies keep out of politics. I sincerely trust it is one or the other: I would hate to think the War Department was just plain ornery.

There have been no outward indications, I will admit, that Secretary Stimson has gone back to being a Republican, which he was before President Roosevelt serenaded him with the love song, "A Cup of Coffee, a Cabinet Offer, and You."

But so many surprising things happen all of a sudden these days, like Gov. Dewey accepting the nomination when we all thought he wasn't even interested.

However this may be, the hard fact remain that I was in Democratic National Headquarters, Room 205, Mayflower Hotel, when the Democrats got snooted.

I MADE the visit because I had heard the place was running over with sex appeal and charm. The first glimpse seemed to bear this out, because, at the reception desk, was a very delectable young number, identified to all comers by this sign: "Miss 'Bill' Williams."

"(Texas) Receptionist!" I was delighted to see Miss Williams because I am a Southerner, too (Southern Saskatchewan).

"The sight of you makes me homesick," I leered at Miss Williams. "It is like a breath of magnesia—or maybe I mean magnolia. But tell me—why does your sign say '(Texas) Receptionist?' Do you receive only Texans?"

"Oh, no," said Miss Williams, maneuvering to keep the width of her desk between us, "it only means that I come from Texas. I receive everybody—provided they are good Democrats."

"But I have heard rumors," I said, "that the Democrats in Texas are divided. Which are the good ones and which the bad?"

"That is easy," replied Miss Williams. "The good ones are those who come on our side."

"That is interesting," I replied. "I did not know the national committee had come out openly on either side. Is something going on of which I don't know of?"

"You can go on now," said Miss Williams. "Please!"

I BARGED in on Ed Brown, assistant publicity director.

"Is it true," I said, abruptly, "that this place is practically bursting with beauty?"

"Why, yes," replied Mr. Brown. "I guess you could say so. At least I am not going to say anything different. I have to work here. I will show you around if you wish."

"Now, in here," said Mr. Brown, opening a door, "is a very good looking—no, that is Charlie Michelson! He hasn't really been considered a beauty since the first Cleveland Administration. But—in here now—"

"Oh, pardon me! I thought this was the switchboard room."

"Everybody seems pretty busy now," he apologized. "No matter how lovely they may be these young ladies have to work very hard."

I was introduced around, and I wish to report that the Democrats have quite a galaxy. I wish I had found out sooner because the whole outfit moves to Chicago on July 9. Although the convention does not open until the 19th.

BUT, TO GET back to the snooting. The committee wanted to put out some publicity on how many delegates have sons and husbands in the armed services. One of the delegates had reported having a soldier son—Col. W. T. Ryder.

Miss Louise Wilson, of the publicity staff, said she needed more information about Col. W. T. Ryder. So she called up the adjutant general's office.

She listed the things she wanted to know and was told to hold on while the information was looked up. At last the Army information man came back on the line and started to rattle off the answers. Suddenly he stopped, to ask who was calling.

"This," said Miss Wilson, "is the Democratic National Committee."

"Then I can't talk to you," said the brass hat. "We are positively forbidden to give any information to a political organization!"

IN CURRENT ISSUES of both the Transatlantic Edition of the London Daily Mail and the Stars and Stripes are greetings to me from Cpl. Lew Bible.

Lew Bible is an old sidekick. He was a valuable man to know. The things he didn't know about Washington were known by his bossman, Mr. Barne, the great and durable maestro at the Shoreham, so between them, naturally, they knew everything.

Lew's message, via the public press, was that he is potentially here. He has won $100 worth of bets.

Before leaving Washington, friends bet him he wouldn't see action. But he sent his greetings to me—as he was scrambling down the ship's ladder into the landing craft that was to take him to the Normandy beaches!

By E. V. Durling

IN 1939 it was 20 lira to the dollar. Will be interesting to find out what the prices for various items are in francs and lira now. What is cognac selling for in Normandy? How many francs for a good meal there? What can you get for 100 lira in Naples and Rome?

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Who would you say was the most picturesque ringman of the Twentieth Century? A—My choice would be Battling Siki, the Singular Senegalese . . .

Q—What silent film company had wings on its trademark? A—The Mutual Film Corporation had a trademark of a clock with wings, used with the slogan "Mutual Movies Make Time Fly." There was also a company called The Flying A, which had a winged "A" as a trademark.

Q—As a Dodger fan, what do you think of Durocher as a manager? A—I was a Dodger fan for many years, but at present am not greatly interested in baseball. Therefore, I do not spend much time in thinking about Mr. Durocher. However, I have a feeling Larry Medford had more to do with the success of the Dodgers than Durocher . . . Q—Who wrote the song, "Throw Him Down, McCloskey?" A—It was written by John W. Kelly, "The Rolling Mill Man," and popularized by Maggie Cline.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: In addition to weighing weekly every man should take the measurement of his belt line circumference with a view of eliminating that thing called "A corporation." If a man fails to do this, his wife should insist it be done. Maintaining normal weight and waist line is a great aid to longevity . . . The expression "long time no see" should be a permanently retired. It is in the same class as "what's new?" and "how's tricks?" Another expression being much overworked is "good-bye now."

Our idea in quoting these acrostics was to furnish some examples for subscribers desiring to write their own for a loved one . . . Waiting in a ticket line last night at a film theater, I noticed a number of service men doing likewise. That's not right. All theaters should have a special entrance for service men in order to do away with their standing in line. Those fellows do enough standing in line, marching in line and fighting in line when on duty. Give them a break when they are on furlough.

If I were as good looking a man as my pup is a dog and could sing tenor, why Nelson Eddy just wouldn't be in it with me . . . Fifty francs to the dollar is the current rate of exchange for French money furnished our invasion forces. In 1939, just before the war, the rate was 40 francs to the dollar. In Italy the rate is 100 lira to the dollar.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, July 6—The fall for mystery movies is on with a rush. The best reason is that these thrillers are clearing up at the boxoffice.

I hadn't been back long before I heard that M-G-M had snagged "Death in the Doll's House," a magazine serial by Hannah Lees and Lawrence Bachmann. It is the story of a young doctor and a nurse he loves and their experiences in solving a psychological murder.

Susan Peters, chosen for the heroine, a nurse, should know that role by heart since she has been sick so many weeks. It might be added that "Death in the Doll's House" is off the beaten path of the usual mystery yarn. Though the stories are not comparable, "Doll's House" has the same feeling and mood as "Gaslight," Metro's highly successful thriller.

SUSAN HAYWARD, who prefers playing naughty charms to insipid ingenues on the screen, is happy. She gets a chance to be as risqué as the Hays Office permits in "High Among the Stars," the Charles Rogers-United Artists picture which co-stars Jane Powell. Susie will play a striptease artist who tries to keep the facts about her career from her younger sister (Janet). Also, she sings a couple of numbers for the first time on the screen. Meanwhile, "Susie" is in New York and her romance with Jess Barker is said to be as chilly as a headwaiter's nod.

RUTH GOODIN ROOSEVELT and her bridegroom, Col. Harry Fickson, spent the Fourth of July in Hollywood. I saw them dining on the eve of the Fourth with Johnnie Meyer and was interested when Kaye Kuersten walked up to their table and asked to meet the former Mrs.

Roosevelt. Amusing, because Col. Blott Roosevelt was reported one time as greatly intrigued with the Emerson girl. I never believed the rumors that she would be the next Mrs. Roosevelt. But she is very pretty and a girl who in a short time has become well known in Hollywood.

HEDY LAMARR talked such good points to Producer Robert Fellows as she induced him to change the present day setting of "Expensive Perilous" to a period piece of 1800. Hedy is no fool—she was just how well those costumes become her. The novel, by Legaret Carpenter, I hear has been completely revamped by Warren Duff, who has switched the setting from 1944 to 1844. But Hedy wears something in those hoop skirts and bustles. Meanwhile, Legs Brent and Paul Lukas will wear sideburns, the sort that gentlemen affected at the time.

A NICE LIE from Brian Aherne, who died in Chicago the day I published. Brian has been making informal tours along the military camps of Georgia, Mississippi, Maine and Texas. Last week when he was in Texas, the Appahard Field Army Air Base Governor of the State named him a Texas Ranger and painted him with boots and hat and you imagine our handsome English friend with a cowboy's regalia? Well, anyway, it's my distinction and Ginger Rags, I believe, is the only one from Hollywood who has been thus hon-

MORE HOLLYWOOD notables were on the wrecked Chief. Eddie Sherman had been East with a print of "A Wave, a Wac and a Marine." Sally Eilers' picture, and the print he had with him

SNAKEBITES OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: When Frank Sinatra was introduced to Esther Williams, the one who introduced them said, "You meet the Body." Betty Hutton and Eddie Norris are a Hollywood pre-teenager that happened while my back was turned; William Goetz is trying to borrow Robert Young for the Sonja Henie movie; back in the days of John L. Sullivan the girls were iron bands, but today none were available for the movie, so ladies' garters are being used; Ivan Labedoff, who gave a dinner in honor of his wife's birthday, says she may take up her movie career again. She was Vera Engles and very beautiful; Jon Hall could frighten little children with that beard he is raising for his next movie; Heather Angel's groom Capt. Robert Sinclair, has received his orders to report to Washington; Mary Pickford and Buddy Rogers are hosting a dinner for Mrs. Evelyn McLean and Elsa Maxwell tonight. With Elsa in town, our social life is very gay; Gregory Peck starts work today in "The House of Edwards." He plays a highly nervous young man, which he says isn't difficult because he is a prospective father awaiting the birth of his first child, due Aug. 1. Lauritz Melchior, leading singer of the Met, will forget his classical songs long enough to sing "Sunday, Monday and Always" in his first movie, "Thrill of a Romance." HKO has postponed the starting date of "Albany Night Beat" for 10 weeks to give Jack Haley a chance to go overseas; Harry Joe Brown gave a cocktail party for Ralph Murphy and his bride.

MR. AND MRS. ARTHUR B. BERNARD of Chestnut Hill and attractive daughter, Mrs. Oliver Wolcott Hayes (Nancy Joy Bernard), leave Saturday to vacation at the cottage they've had for many years on the shore of Lake Winnepesaukee.

Nancy's husband, Lt. Hayes, is in a PT boat squadron in the Pacific. They were married in Dec. 1912, after a romance that began at Winnepesaukee where their families have neighboring cottages. He left for combat duty shortly after but his bride has big hopes he'll be home this summer.

Nancy worked as a professional model during the winter and since spring has done a lot of sailing on the Charles River basin. Climbing onto the wharf yesterday with her blonde hair in pigtails and a becoming tan set off by white shorts and brown and white halter she looked like a little girl in comparison to the sophisticated glamour type she portrays in fashion photos. Sometimes she sails alone, occasionally has her mother, Anne Clarke or Cynthia Vose for crew. Ann and Cynthia were her sister debs in '41.

AT WINCHESTER HOSPITAL a bouncing boy, Sidney, Jr., was born July 3 to Lt. Com. and Mrs. S. Kennedy Tully (Agatha Shinnick), of Winchester. The infant's Dad is on duty in the Pacific. His grandparents are Mrs. Francis Tully, Tory Hill, Warner, N. H., and Mr. and Mrs. John D. Shinnick, Winchester.

MRS. LEVERETT SALTON-STALL, Mrs. Bartlett Harwood, Mrs. Arnold Hunnewell and Mrs. James Lawrence, Jr. are among the United China Relief committee members helping with plans to show a new film, "Here Is China," at N. E. Mutual Hall tomorrow evening. The occasion commemorates the seventh anniversary of China's courageous battle against Japan.

OFF TO CALIFORNIA where they will make their home time, he is Capt. and Mrs. Philip C. Beals (Elsie White) whose marriage, June 28, in Christ died on duty. He leaves his widow Church, Cambridge, is announced and three daughters.

MRS. OLIVER W. HAYES—to vacation in New Hampshire.

by her mother, Mrs. Joseph Nelson White, Jr., of Cambridge. The bride is a graduate of the Masters School and an undergraduate of Wellesley College. Capt. Beals, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George C. Beals of Belmont, recently returned from combat duty as a fighter-pilot in the South Pacific. He graduated from Harvard in 1912 where he belonged to Lampton, Signet, Hasty Pudding and Fox.

ROUND AND ABOUT: Mrs. Harry Hayward has opened Holiday House, her estate at Hyannisport, the Alfred Lowells of Mt. Vernon st., have moved to Barnstable with their daughter, Mrs. Peter Hunsaker and infant daughter, and the Kenneth Millers have returned to Swampscott after a sojourn at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York.

E. A. Darling, State Prison Employee, Dies

State Prison's oldest employee, Edward A. Darling, a veteran of 36 years' service, is dead. Darling, who had witnessed and kept records on every execution at the State Prison since its installation of the electric chair, collapsed and died on duty. He leaves his widow and three daughters.

Molasses Milk Nog

By MARTHA LEE
SWEETERING SUMMER DAYS, vacation guests, lagging appetites—all tax the imagination of even the most ingenious homemaker, especially when considering sun- refreshments or between-meal snacks.

A cool, refreshing milk drink served with crisp buttered wafers is a delightful combination for light refreshments or a pick-me-up in the middle of the afternoon. A molasses milk nog topped with ice cream and sprinkled with cinnamon and ginger is really unusual and delicious. And while the supply of milk and ice cream has been limited by government order, there is still enough for everyone to have his share.

A fruit or egg milk drink also offers refreshment in hot summer weather, and there are several fruits and fruit juices which lend themselves to milk drinks of one kind or another. Here are some suggestions from which to choose:

MOLASSES MILK NOG

1 cup chilled milk
2 tbsp. molasses
Dash of cinnamon and ginger
Combine milk, molasses and salt. Add spices and blend. Pour into glass. Top with ice cream (2 tablespoons), a little brown sugar, or a dash of cinnamon and ginger. Makes 1 serving.

GRAPE BLOSSOM

1/2 cup grape juice
1/4 tsp. lemon juice
2 tbsp. sugar 1 cup milk
Pinch of salt

Combine chilled ingredients and beat with egg beater. Serve immediately. Makes 1 tall glass.

MILK AND HONEY NECTAR

1 1/2 cup mashed banana
1/4 tsp. orange juice
1/4 tsp. honey
1 drop almond extract
Pinch of salt 1 cup milk
Mash banana. Add fruit juice, honey, salt and flavoring. Mix well. When ready to serve add cold milk and beat with egg beater. Garnish with whipped cream and serve immediately. Makes 1 tall glass.

FRUIT MILK PUNCH

1/2 cup crushed bananas
2 tbsp. orange juice
2 cup pineapple juice
1 tsp. lemon juice
Pinch of salt 1 cup milk
Mash banana. Add fruit juice and salt; chill. When ready to serve pour into cold milk and beat with egg beater. Serve immediately. Makes 1 tall glass.

FRUIT EGGNOG

1 egg, well beaten 1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup fruit juice (grape juice, orange juice or cherry juice)
1 cup chilled rich milk or 1/2 cup milk and 1/2 cup cream
Beat egg with sugar; beat in milk and fruit juice and serve cold in tall glass. For a more fluffy eggnog, separate egg and beat egg white until stiff; beat egg yolk until light; beat in sugar, milk, flavoring; fold in white. Makes 1 tall glass.

PINEAPPLE MINT PUNCH

3 cups cold milk
2 cups cold pineapple juice
1/2 cup coffee cream
1/4 tsp. lemon juice
1/4 cup sugar
Pinch of salt
25 drops peppermint extract
Combine all ingredients and shake in a shaker or beat with egg beater until foamy. Pour into tall glasses; garnish with a sprig of mint and serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

On Time, Please

Minutes are golden these days, and being prompt for an appointment, either social or business, is most important. Being late is not smart (in either sense), and may prove to be disastrous, both to you and the busy person whom you keep waiting. Glib excuses won't do.

MRS. BERGMAN.

Fashion

EASY-TO-LAUNDER button front cottons are summer stand-bys. And this cool-looking dress of green Everlast "one-thousand" cloth features white scalloped embroidery . . . demurely feminine . . . and a loop sash of the same sleek, thoroughly tubbable fabric. The rough, iridescent, tweed-straw "vagabond" . . . with wooden beads and felt flower crown trim . . . is a Lilly Dache creation.—R. M.

Wife Sues Officer

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: It seems to me a woman who has been married to a man for seven years might have enough knowledge of human nature not to be judge, jury and hangman. The morals of peacetime and wartime are not the same.

At a certain point I had an affair with a woman I didn't really love. It was just one of those affairs. My wife is suing me for divorce. We have two children whom I love beyond words. My whole life is bound up in their future welfare. The divorce will come up in the civil court. I doubt if I can get away to defend myself or if my defense will be accepted. Her mother is the only member of her family who seems a bit sorry for me.

Your letter, too long to print, might be a warning to other young officers who go into such affairs not because they fall in love but in a spirit of adventure. In spite of all that's been said against mothers-in-law yours seems to be your only hope. Get her to plead your case for you before the suit for divorce comes up in court.

A wife's first reaction in such a problem is often vindictive. "Let him take his medicine" is her first thought. Then, on more sober reflection she feels "the quality of mercy is not strained," and forgives her erring mate.

7 Drops—Then Glamour Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

THE FOOD we eat builds our body . . . and, by the same token our complexion feeds on the vital elements found in fruits and vegetables and sunshine. And, when the blood stream doesn't assimilate these elements . . . so necessary and requisite to the pliability, elasticity and suppleness of our skin . . . the skin becomes devitalized, stretched and taut.

The inner layer is taken care of by the blood stream . . . but it is the outer layer . . . which shows age through lack of moisture and the appearance of fine lines . . . that a unique lotion . . . as precious as a jewel . . . and to be used just as sparingly . . . can help beyond your fondest dreams and hopes.

You wouldn't think that seven wee drops of this precious liquid could do the trick . . . but it does . . . for it assists nature in restoring the desirable moisture, pliability and elasticity to the skin . . . thereby making it more youthful in appearance.

Sometimes, it isn't only age which develops "thinking lines" in danger spots of our face . . . around the eyes, forehead, mouth and neck. But just as a piece of leather takes on wrinkles from constant creasing . . . so does the face reflect depressions from certain facial habits . . . even though they may be from laughter as well as worry and tears.

COMPLETE TREATMENT

This velvety-skin inducing liquid . . . used as miserably as an expensive perfume . . . constitutes a complete beauty treatment with only seven drops . . . one on the forehead, nose, chin, each eyelid, each cheek . . . pressed gently into the skin, not massaged . . .

You can use this seven-drop beauty treatment either as a "lunch" before making up . . . or for overnight work while you toss about in your dreams. Back of this preparation is a study of the need of scientific humidity for the skin . . . a study developed by a Viennese scientist whose colleagues' wives tried and tested it for ultimate results.

For the name of this seven-drop youthifying skin treatment, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBERTY 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES

IN WRITING thank-you notes to your fiancé's friends and relatives, formality is better than familiarity. It's wiser to call his aunt and uncle "Mr. and Mrs. Brown," at least until after you are married.

JUST AS YOU FRAME YOUR FACE with a fetching chapeau . . . give your complexion a seven-drop beauty treatment that will not only clean and lubricate the skin . . . but give it pliability and moisture for a youthful facial appearance . . . free from mature lines and facial depressions. Warner Star Lynne Baggett poses.

My Day . .

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Wednesday . . . Not long ago, I was told the story of someone who was reading over letters of recommendation for a prospective employee. These letters were from people in pretty important positions.

The reader looked up and shook his head, saying: "These letters prove what I have always thought, this man must read PM and the Nation and the New Republic. He must be affiliated with some subversive organization."

It is curious the way some people seem to think that if you read anything liberal or talk to any people whose ideas are not exactly similar to those of highly conservative groups, you must of necessity be a radical.

We live in a country in which our proud boast for many years has been that we could hold to any ideas that we chose to believe in. Our boast has been that we could speak our minds on any subject in any way we choose and we would be protected in our right to hold our beliefs or to express ourselves as we pleased.

THE WAR has changed this somewhat, but never enough to intimidate great numbers of people. A few people in Washington who hold minor positions have been troubled by investigation into their private lives or into their political views and activities.

Have Robe Handy

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THIS being the vacation season, and bathing your favorite sport, the kind of legs you have is more important right now than at any other time during the year. Not every girl who goes down to the sea to swim has the kind of legs that make pin-up girls what they are. And there are also a lot of women who need the tonic of sea bathing but haven't the legs for a first-rate effect on the beach.

There is no reason why every one of these folks shouldn't go swimming, but there is every reason why they should do as much as possible to look right on the beach. If your legs are not very nice to look at, then you needn't show them for hours and hours before and after your swim.

You will look a lot more attractive if you have a robe handy to slip on between swims, or slacks, or a skirt. You can have all the fun of the life at a seaside resort, and escape feeling inferior in this way.

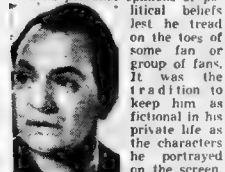

Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, July 6.—(The guest at the typewriter today is Edward G. Robinson, screen actor and connoisseur of modern painting, with his views on what the war has done for Hollywood . . . D. K.)

EDWARD G. ROBINSON

The war has emancipated the Hollywood actor. In the past, he was a romantic figure, permitted no personal opinions or political beliefs.

Edward G. Robinson

Just he tread on the toes of some fan or group of fans. It was the tradition to keep him as fictional in his private life as the characters he portrayed on the screen.

"The Public" it was contended, wanted it that way. The war has changed all that. When the younger actors exchanged civilian clothes and took their places with other citizens in the battle for democracy, it amounted to a new Declaration of Independence for the craft of the motion picture.

In this war men from the acting profession have asked for no special dispensations. Men like Robert Montgomery, Jimmy Stewart, John Ford, Douglas Fairbanks, John Huston and Louis Hayward have seen action on fighting fronts all over the world. It is unlikely that men who have faced death will return to civilian life with old viewpoints intact.

HOLLYWOOD, prior to Pearl Harbor, was an ivory tower. Making fictional entertainment, not life, was the town's main interest. There were certain exceptions. Some individuals had a long view on domestic and foreign issues. But popular opinion was held to demand that such interests be played pianissimo.

Now Celluloid City is just an ordinary town, similar to a thousand others throughout the nation. Members of the film industry are 100 per cent behind the war effort. Politics are discussed openly and men and women of fudom state their honest opinions, and act on them, without fear of what "The Fans" may think.

"THE FANS" have changed.

too. There is no doubt that the war has educated Americans in every walk of life in tolerance, self-sacrifice and an interest in the larger issues of human existence.

The boys who are fighting for a new world on the battlefronts of the world are living realistically. They have no time for sham or pretense. And that goes for Hollywood, too.

I feel that the postwar film will be less superficial than at any time since the medium's inception. That, chiefly, will come about through writers seeing new sights and experiencing new emotions. The actors and directors in the conflict are certain to be affected, too. And this combination of new thought processes will be reflected on the screen.

At the present time the American civilian public, fighting on the home front, is changing. There is a fresh demand for vital screen works, ones having a vital realism.

YOU'LL NOTICE that the over-emotionalized story has appeared less and less frequently since the war. The so-called "drawing room drama" of false social values is outmoded.

This is the day of realism, and the realization has come that the average man and woman are even more interesting and romantic than the rascally postboard figures that formerly filled movie plots.

HOLLYWOOD, July 6.—If you want to know what the rest of the country is doing and saying about the movies, then turn to the official reviews of the exhibitors in the Motion Picture Herald.

"The Miracle of Morgan's Creek" got great metropolitan notices, yet the exhibitor of the Belmar Theater on the outskirts of Pittsburgh, Pa., writes: "Business and picture disappointing. Terrific downtown build-up probably attracted this neighborhood money. Personally I cannot see La Hutton in any thing but musical comedy; definitely not a story for her (or maybe I'm wrong)."

Exhibitor F. R. Crist of Loveland, O., believes so, for writing about the same picture he says: "Whatever has been said about this picture or against it is a hounding. Just a little raw in spots. They came to see it and loved it."

Exhibitor Herman A. Petersen of Fresno, S. D., writes about "Salute to the Marines": "This is a good story about the Marines and Wallace Beery turned in a marvelous performance as a Marine. I heard one party say it was the best picture they had ever seen, but although it was a good picture, the statement was a little strong." Even Wally Beery didn't like it that much.

GETTING TO ONE of your favorites, here is a review on Frankie boy. The Pittsburgh exhibitor writes about "Higher and Higher": "Frank Sinatra is seemingly slipping. A few 'ohs' here and there, but the picture itself wasn't responsible for meager box. 'Tunisia Victory' doubled with 'Higher and Higher.' The lobby war brigade failed to turn out and soon for their celluloid and radio 'roice'! The minute a guy arrives someone wants to say he is slipping. This Frankie boy's initial picture in which he plays a role, so how can he be slipping. I like Sinatra. O. K., so I wear bobby socks."

Exhibitor G. W. Rutenour of Milford, Ill., has this to say about "Thousands Cheer": "Best musical of the year. Not a fireman moment even if it is a bit long. Business good as musicals go."

TALKING ABOUT war pictures, here are some comments from the exhibitors about some of the latest. Exhibitor Rutenour, who appears to be in favor of them, writes about "Destination Tokyo": "Good war picture. Tell them it's a war picture but not horror of war. Well liked by men and most women. A man's picture, however. Business about average."

An exhibitor from North Vernon, Ind., has this to say about "The Hour Before Dawn": "Another war picture and this isn't even a good one. Many walkouts and a lot of complaints. It's English, slow moving and a spy story that drags so much it loses its suspense."

George Holland

Boston After Dark

ACTRESS ELLA RAINES—who is fated for stardom of first rank—thought up a ruse which she thinks will insure the safe arrival of a parcel of pin-up pictures to a German prison camp where some American friends of Ella's are interned. . . . American Airmen Joe Klass and John Torland, former classmates of Miss Raines at University of Washington, had requested some pin-up pictures of Ella herself.

THE BOYS HAD BEEN shot down and imprisoned at a camp by the name of Kriegesangenschlager. . . . Ella included some stills of other movie stars with the package of her own pictures. . . . Then came predictions from editors in the Hollywood acting colony that the business of sending pictures to Germany was a waste of time. . . . Miss Raines chose to disagree. . . . The reason for her confidence was that she mailed duplicate sets of pictures, addressed to the German censors with the request that the censors keep one set and deliver the other. . . . "Even the Nazis," said Ella, "like pin-ups—I hope."

THE OLD HOWARD STAFF, backstage and outfront, is keeping up to the best of its ability with requests from burlesque fans on all the fighting fronts for pictures of their favorites. . . . Ann Corio and Marge Hart still are favorites with their non-forgetting fans. . . . Evelyn Taylor seems to be the most popular of the newer crop of burlesque queens.

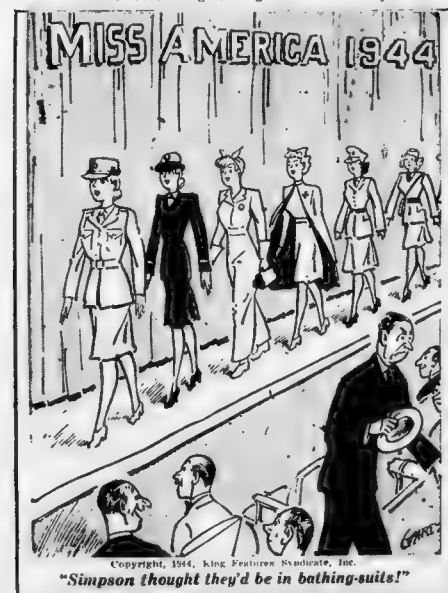

THE RITZ ROOF opens at 5:30 p. m., and not at 6 o'clock as it did in previous years. . . . The Ritz management thus does away with the confusion prevalent in other places where the federal tax became effective at 9:30, after a taxless (federal) dinner. . . . The minute that dancing begins, the federal tax must become effective. . . . If a party has had dinner at a nightclub or hotel roof, and remains at its table when dancing starts, the entire check becomes subject to the tax. . . . It is not unusual these nights to see a party pay one check (without the tax), then to leave the place and return a few minutes later. . . . Then a new check is started.

IT MUST BE CONCEDED (and most of the cabaret owners do) that the reduction from 30 per cent of the check to 20 per cent has helped stimulate business. . . . Forecasts were that the public, resentful of the huge tariff, would stay away from the glitter-spots, even when the impost was lowered to 20 per cent.

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 2 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness. Frequent or scanty urination with stinging and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Gretchen Merrill Chief Sonja Rival

By JACK CONWAY

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., July 6—Gretchen Merrill of Brookline, who won the National championship for the past two years, will prove as great a professional ice star as Sonja Henie, in the opinion of the 200 amateur skaters here from all parts of the United States and Canada.

Miss Merrill took time out from her studies at the University of California last spring to prepare for the Nationals. It was feared by some of her admirers that the lack of practice would enable Miss Dorothy Goos of New York to win from the talented Brookline girl. When the competition was over Miss Goos was runner-up to Miss Merrill for the second time.

Before leaving Boston Floyd Tiel, who has acted as public relations counsel for many of the carnivals that have featured Miss Merrill, told me that the national champion was planning a movie as well as a skating career. Gretchen has the beauty, grace and skating ability of Sonja, and a personality which surpasses that of the former Olympic champion.

I know that Roy Johnson would have liked to feature Gretchen in the Ice Follies last season, but the champion decided to finish her college education, win another national championship and then go all out for a movie and professional skating career.

It is with considerable pride that Gretchen recalls that she received her first opportunities in ice carnivals while giving exhibitions in skating carnivals that were conducted by this newspaper with the aid of Ben Levis for the Christmas Basket Fund. I believe Gretchen was only eight years of age when she showed in one of these carnivals for the first time.

Since then Hazel Franklin, now the headliner in the Ice Follies, and numerous other stars have made their first important public appearances in the Silver Skates Derby.

Evelyn Chandler Admired

EVELYN CHANDLER, who for several years starred in the Ice Follies, has many admirers among the skating groups. There are many persons who contend that the Chicago star is a better natural skater than Sonja Henie. The latter, however, has more beauty and excels in showmanship.

It is unlikely that Bess Ehrhart will return to ice carnivals again, this brilliant young skater tired not only of touring all parts of the country, but and prefers a home life. Hazel Franklin, Betty Atkinson and Nora McCarthy will continue to hold most of the limelight until Gretchen Merrill decides to become a professional. I then expect the Brookline girl to set a new high for skill, showmanship and color in skating exhibitions.

The Ice Capades would like to feature Gretchen Merrill. This ice show has gained exceptional prominence during the last two years. It now draws as well as the Ice Follies and furnishes a top show. If Gretchen Merrill were to go with the Ice Capades, this show would have a star who would rival Hazel Franklin.

Plan for Olympics

THE AMATEUR SKATERS here, most of them still in their teens, are looking ahead to the next Olympic Games. The speed of the war makes people here believe that the war in Europe may end by the late fall or next spring and the war in the east may be over late in 1945 or early in 1946. This would mean that the Olympic Games would be held once more.

The United States would be the best place to hold the games in view of the changing world conditions. In such an event the winter sports and skating competition would probably be held here.

Military Swim In Medford Show

Alex Houston, director of Water Safety of the Boston Metropolitan Chapter of the American Red Cross, will supervise a demonstration of military swimming by highly trained natators at the Tufts Park, Medford, swimming pool, Saturday, July 15.

This demonstration will be held in conjunction with the Record-American - Sunday Advertiser Swimming meet.

In the Red Cross Functional Swimming and Water Safety Course which is given to men in armed forces at home and abroad by Red Cross representatives, many skills are included to prepare a man for emergencies which arise out of operations carried on over water. Out of all the skills which have been learned without actual danger, a man is much better ready for the eventualities which may mean life or death.

In this show very spectacular scenes will be enacted.

Few demonstrations of this type have been witnessed. It will prove to be not only interesting but instructive to the onlookers.

Lake Rates Sox Hill Job

By BILL GRIMES

Eddie Lake, Mitey Atom of the Red Sox, and better known as a competent shortstop, has earned a regular starting berth as a pitcher. Lake has been impressive as a reliever, and in view of the fact that Tex Hughson and Joe Bowman are the only Hose pitchers who have been consistent winners, Eddie merits a chance to show his worth.

There was no chance for Lake to see action today for he worked yesterday. Hughson was ordered to start against the Tigers by Joe Cronin, but there are plenty of opportunities ahead for Eddie.

They'll tell you that Eddie hasn't a curve ball. Then, they'll point out that Eddie is a midget, too small to be a pitcher. However, the experts will admit that he has a live arm, a grand fielder and has plenty of courage packed in his little frame.

Unknown to the fans, Eddie has been called upon to do relief work, after he has pitched batting practice. He would have shown to better advantage in all of his appearances, if he had been told in advance that he was on call to pull the "fireman's" act.

Lake did a fine job again yesterday. He replaced Emmett O'Neill, who had given a terrific lift to the Tigers' confidence in their batting ability, during the three rounds he lasted. It was a tough spot for any pitcher to take over. But, for the first four innings he was in action, Eddie held the Tigers to one run, which was set up by a wild pitch, and allowed only three hits. He weakened, and so did his defense, in the eighth and Detroit pushed across two runs, on three hits. Then, he got his second wind in the ninth and retired Jimmy Outlaw, Mike Higgins and Eddie Mayo in a row.

The Red Sox and Tigers were to wind up their four-game series this afternoon. Steve O'Neill planned to send Rufus Gentry to the mound, while Hughson was out for his 13th victory.

The Croninmen have dropped

two decisions in three starts to the Tigers. So, it was up to Tex to square the series.

The Red Sox will sponsor their second annual War Relief game next Sunday, when the entire receipts of the double-header with the Cleveland Indians will be donated to those worthy charitable organizations.

A year ago, the Boston fans turned out well for a mid-week double-header against Detroit and were well rewarded for their patronage. It was one of the best shows ever staged.

Pep Seeking New Titles

CHICAGO, July 6 (AP)—Willie Pep, whose only defeat in 74 professional bouts was by Lightweight Sammy Angott, looks upon his 10-round bout here tomorrow night with Willie Joyce as the beginning of a campaign to win the lightweight crown.

The Hartford, Ct., lad, recognized as world featherweight champion in New York, thinks his speed and boxing skill will carry him through against Joyce, two-time conqueror of Hammerin' Henry Armstrong and one of the toughest little men in the business.

"Sure, I hope to move into the lightweight class and try to win the title," he said. "Why not?"

Pep, now only 22, won his feather crown from Chalky Wright.

In Joyce, 26-year-old former Golden Glove champ from Gary, Ind., Pep will meet a battler fast and a splendid boxer who will cut weight him by about five pounds. Joyce has posted a guarantee that he will come in at 134 pounds—five less than he weighed in winning a split decision from Armstrong here recently.

Pep probably will weigh 128 or less. He was a 6-5 favorite, but by ringtime he may be no better than even money.

WONDERLAND

Pete Fox Finally Gets Deserved '44 Honor

The Red Sox played for the War Relief Societies earlier in the season at Detroit . . . Pete Fox has finally made the 1944 All-Star team . . . He should have been among the charter members but the American League managers, who make the selections, pulled one of those things.

Tony Schofield and Steve O'Neil talked over their schoolboy days for a half hour before the game on the Detroit bench. They were born and raised in Minooka, Pa. . . After announcing that Hank Terry was going to pitch yesterday's twilight game, Manager Joe Cronin made another of his eleventh hour shifts and gave the nod to Emmett O'Neill . . . He might have done better if he had sent Win Green to the hilltop . . . O'Neill was belted from pillar to post during the three innings he was on the mound.

COLLINS SEKS BAND
He was mused by Joe Hoover and Jimmy Outlaw, who came up with four of the six hits . . . And, with a five-run lead to work on, "Dizzy" Trout didn't over-exert himself . . . "Doc" Cramer put on a show for Tom Yawkey before the game, imitating such well known pitchers as Wes Ferrell, Bobo Newsom and Jack Wilson . . . General Manager Eddie Collins hopes to have the U. S. Coast Guard band and its "hot" trumpet as an extra attraction for Sunday's war relief game . . . Eddie Lake, who took over when Joe Cronin felt Emmett O'Neill had been enough, showed the pitchers how they should field their position when he came in fast on a topped swing and got the speedy Chuck Hostetler in the 4th.

Ensign "Chick" Maloney, who is home on a leave after navigating a B-24 in the South Pacific for eleven months, will report to the Naval base at Dallas, Tex., one week from tomorrow . . . He has worked out daily with the Red Sox and is rapidly rounding into condition, after an attack of nerves . . . After smashing a terrific drive ten feet foul and across Lansdowne st. into Bill Huddellson's "Shopper," Roy Johnson swung straight away on "Dizzy" Trout's next serve and parked the ball in the center field bleachers . . . He was Bob's sixth and by far his healthiest home run clout of the season.

The Detroit Tigers will play an exhibition game at the Sampson Naval Station, July 10, and the following day they show at Cooperstown, N. Y. . . The Tigers played two twilight games at home . . . They drew 16,000 with the Indians and 20,000 with the Browns . . . But, due to the fact that Briggs Stadium is "double decked," twilight games are tough on the players.

PETE FOX STREAK STOPPED
The Tigers leave tonight for New York for a four game series with the Yankees . . . Pete Fox might have seriously injured "Dizzy" Trout if he had really got a good piece of the ball he lined back at the Tiger hurler in the sixth . . . However, the ball was well enough hit to Dizzy, who was panic stricken when he speared the liner with his gloved hand, while protecting his face with the other.

Jimmy Outlaw, the former Brave, has given the Red Sox pitchers considerable trouble in this series . . . He has connected with five hits in twelve trips to the plate . . . Four of his hits were two baggers . . . "Dizzy" Trout stopped Fox' consecutive game hitting streak, which was up to 15—BILL GRIMES.

Caseys Make Desperate Bid

Manager Dick Casey will send his powerful team, now runners-up to the Navy Yard in the Park Department baseball league, to Garvey Field tonight to tangle with the Lawley's Shipyard crew in an effort to climb back into the league lead.

After hanging doggedly to the Navy Yards for a month the Town Fielders dropped a few crucial hits and found themselves in second position. A victory tonight over Hal Crosby's tough shipyard aggregation could very well pave the way for a first place comeback. In an effort to clinch this win Casey will call on either Leo Galligan or his veteran hurler Charley Bird for the mound assignment.

The Linehan Club will play host to the Watertown Arsenal at Columbus park, South Boston, in another tough battle scheduled on tonight's card. Although encountering a few bad breaks this season among which was the loss of a veteran receiver, the Linehans have a well balanced nine and should give the Watertown boys a real battle. The Arsenal is in need of this win if they are to stay up in the first place fight and all indications point towards a great game.

The Navy Yard A. A. will strive to maintain its leading margin as it moves over to Cleveland Circle to play the Trailways. The West Roxbury A. A. will tangle with Hick's Engineering in the remaining game on the docket. George Cox will do the hurling for the Engineers.

Tiny Boxmen

A pitcher is as big as his heart, courage and what the boys call control. So little Eddie Lake, infielder converted to the pitcher's box need have no misgivings. Eddie has all three requisites. He proved it yesterday. Boston baseball history is jammed with cases of little fellows making good in the pitcher's box. For example, back in the Boston American era of Jimmy Collins, there were George Winters and Norwood Gibson. In Bill Carrigan's halcyon Red Sox days, he had little Eddie Foster, a real sweet pitcher.

Let fans not forget fozzy Clarke Griffith, now Washington owner, who pitched for the New York Highlanders, now the Yanks, after long service in Chicago. David slew Goliath and Jack Dempsey all but slew gigantic Jess Willard. Size means nothing, if you have the heart, courage and control.

Two Eight Rounders On Fall River Card

Another Fire Helps Delaware Getaway

Employees of Garden State Park found a good omen in the fact that Gen. Manager Walter Donovan's car caught fire yesterday as the Camden, N. J., track opened its 50-day meeting.

The openings of the two previous meetings had been marked by automobile fires and both meetings were successful.

The opening day crowd of 13,185 sent $893,253 through the mutual machines.

The attendance and handle both established track records.

Adopted

Left behind by fast retreating Jap forces on Saipan Island, "Nippy" surrendered unconditionally to an American Coast Guard beach party and was adopted as a mascot. Here, atop a pile of field packs, he looks over his new found friends.

Free Ride

A trip around the Charles River Basin in an Army "duck" will be given the purchasers of War Bonds at the booth near the Hatch Shell on the Esplanade during the next three days. These War Bond holders are off on their amphibious voyage in the Army's sea-going truck.
